“Rulebook Excerpts”

Traditional Budo Karate

The Karate Shiai (match or tournament) is an important component of training, which leads to the accomplishment of the four objectives of Budo Karate:

1. Philosophy of Character Development attainable through the discipline of karate training.
2. The aspect of Physical Education and Fitness.
3. The Art of Self Defence, and
4. As a way of testing one’s technique in tournaments.

In karate, the mind controls our thoughts, emotions, and physical movement. In this regard, emotional stability equals self-control, and when used in combination with the tremendous physical power that emanates from the seika-tanden, the mind and body produce the highest degree of kime in karate. There are three methods of testing one’s technique in traditional karate: In actual real life self-defensive situations, in karate rank examinations, and in tournaments; the object is to maintain stable emotions.

In all three cases, the aim is to accomplish the objective with the highest degree of proficiency. This calls for mental clarity that is free from nervousness, fear, and anxiety. Moreover, the “kara” in karate, not only means empty hand, but it also means one must strive to empty one’s mind of all emotions to clearly see impending attacks or to confront issues or challenges without distracting emotional input.

Budo Karate Tournament, Ryerson University, Second IKD World Cup 2015

The International Karate Daigaku (IKD) Shiai is based on the work of Master Masatoshi Nakayama, 10th Dan, and Master Teruyuki Okazaki, 10th Dan who were responsible for the spread of karate to the world, and the western hemisphere respectively. It was Master Nakayama who pioneered the karate tournament in 1957, when the JKA held its first national tournament in Tokyo, Japan. It was, and still is based on the traditional concept of the samurai's doctrine of one blow - one cut - one kill.

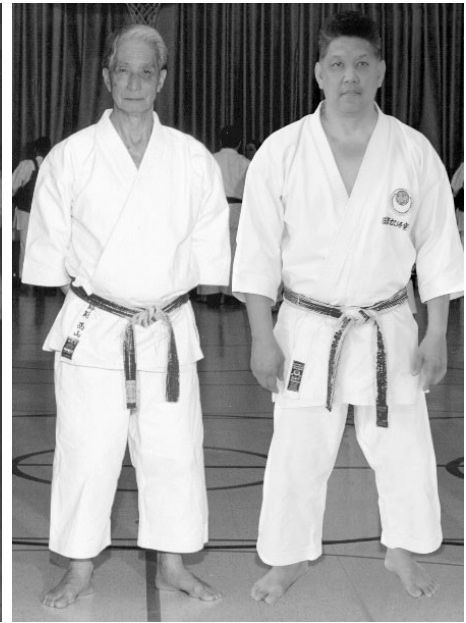

Furthermore, IKD Shiai it is influenced by the work of Master Hidetaka Nishiyama, 10th Dan who pioneered the traditional judges' attire, kata bunkai and enbu. Enbu, since the inception of the karate tournament, was demonstrated by karate masters during events.

Nakayama

Okazaki

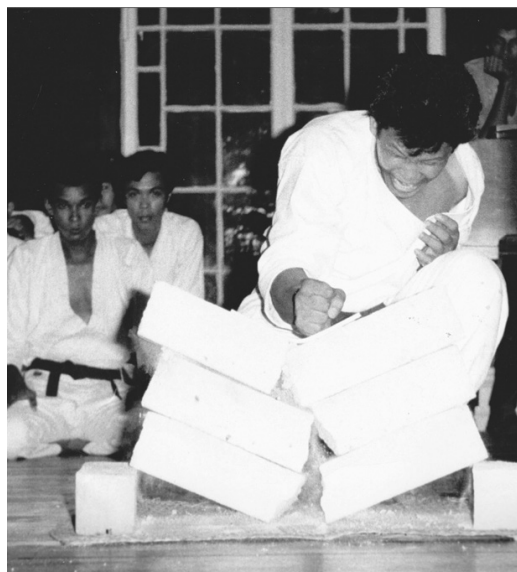

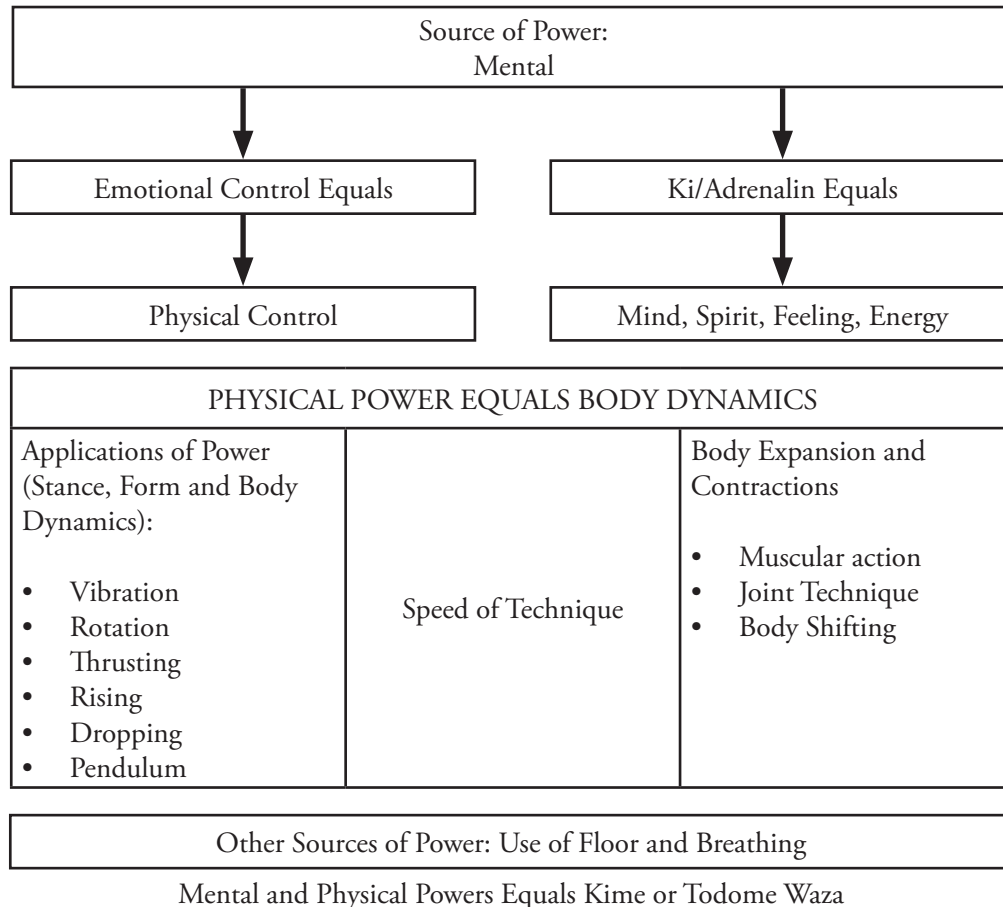

Nishiyama

Thus, the IKD tournament follows the tradition of Karate as a Budo Martial Art of self-defence and not exclusively as a sport. In this regard, it was, and still is, essential to judge karate participants based on the single decisive blow “ikken bisatsu” (kill with one blow). Today, Master Nishiyama updated this concept to “todome waza” (a finishing blow technique). However, it should be noted that IKD, as an International Karate University (Daigaku), also supports the World Karate Federation (WKF) concept of “sports karate” based on points. WKF is an all style world federation that promotes karate as an Olympic sport. This Olympic dream of many is scheduled to be held in Japan in 2020. Deputy Chief Master, Dr. Dexter Shim, 8th Dan, heads the IKD WKF department.

In summary, IKD follows these principles in tournaments with its motto “Tradition in the 21st Century”.

Kime Criteria for Competitors and Judges

Kata, kumite, bunkai, and enbu are judged by the degree of kime in the form of todome waza. Essential elements found in Niju Kun No 19: Correct application of power, speed of technique, and body expansion and contraction, are the basis for achieving kime. However, this must be executed further with ki, which means mind, spirit, feeling and energy. The basis of evaluating kime are as follows:

Performance and Judging Standards

A Level Kime - very strong

Elimination matches 8.7 to 8.9
Final matches 9.7 to 9.9

Possibly, fourth dan and higher competitors in top condition

B Level Kime - strong

Elimination matches 8.4 to 8.6
Final matches 9.4 to 9.6

Possibly, third dan and higher competitors in top condition

C Level Kime – moderate

Elimination matches 8.2 to 8.3
Final matches 9.2 to 9.3

Possibly, second dan and higher competitors in moderate or top condition

D Level Kime – weak

Elimination matches 8.0 to 8.1
Final matches 9.0 to 9.1

Possibly, first dan and higher competitors in poor or moderate condition

Unless competitors are known to the judges; they have no way of knowing the rank of competitors. Thus, all judges are required to attend refresher seminars prior to the Guyana Caribbean Cup, as well as annual seminars conducted by Shuseki Shihan or members of the Shihan-kai Senate.

Moreover, through training, qualification, and experience, judges can evaluate the degree of kime.

2. makes a mistake and continues smoothly (0.1) per mistake. **
3. makes a mistake, hesitates and then continues smoothly (0.2) per mistake.
4. makes a mistake, hesitates for more than three seconds, and then continues. (0.5) per mistake.
5. omits a technique and continues smoothly (0.5).
6. makes a mistake and discontinues (disqualification).
7. forgets one ki-ai. (0.1).
8. forgets two ki-ais. (0.2).
9. adds one ki-ai (0.1), per extra ki-ai.
10. makes loud continuous breathing sounds (0.3).
11. makes slapping techniques (0.3).
12. loss of balance (0.1), each instance.
13. slips, falls, recovers, and continues smoothly (0.5).
14. makes a wrong turn, finishes in the opposite direction (1.0)
15. finishes one full stance from enbusen in any direction, no deduction.
16. finishes more than one full stance from enbusen in any direction (0.2)
17. out of kata formation (0.1 to 0.3)
18. loss of synchronization (0.1 to 0.3)
19. In team kata, bunkai and enbu, if all three competitors demonstrate A level kime, team shall be judged
20. accordingly, or B kime, or C kime, etc.
21. If one is A and two are B, team shall be judged to B kime standard - majority.
22. If one is A, one is B and one is C, they shall be judged to B kime standard – average of three is B kime.
23. If one is B and two are C, team shall be judged C kime standard. In other words, majority kime standard, or in the case of A, B, C, average kime standard.
24. Other penalties as determined by IKD Shihan-kai.

Note, the difference between a bad technique *, mistake , or omitting a technique:

1. A bad technique does not qualify for a judges' conference to deduct points.
2. A mistake requires a judges' conference to deduct points as above.
3. Using the most common technique, the straight punch as an example, the differences between the three as stated above are as follows:
4. A bad technique is when the thumb is not wrapped properly around the index and middle fingers of the closed fist.
5. A mistake is when the flat fist (hiraken) is used instead of the fore fist (seiken).
6. An omitted technique(s) is when one punch is used instead of two or three punches (as in Jion movement 3-6).

At the time of this 2019 Caribbean Cup, IKD has not finalized all its Kata Standardization. Therefore, penalties shall not be deducted for differences in kata execution. For example, kiai points in kata over the standard 15 kata. Moreover, especially in the finals, judges shall refrain from calling penalties for minor infractions such as pivoting on the ball of the foot or the heel.

Such judges shall make their own deductions.

Kumite Scoring Distance

As a safety measure and to avoid serious injury, the scoring distance shall be from the skin or gi, to the width or diameter of the IKD Crest, which is three inches. Further, a leeway of five inches in total from skin or gi, represented by the width of the IKD Kanji, shall be added as extra security.

In past tournaments, techniques were not called, because of perceived discrepancies in distances. This led competitors attacking closer and closer to the target, resulting in serious injuries. These measurements shall be used as a visual. The distance is with gloves or bare feet. Over that distance, techniques may or may not be scored.

Match Time

All kumite matches shall be for a period of two minutes. Timer shall start or restart when Shushin announces:

- Shobu Ippon... Hajime!
- Tsuzukete... Hajime!
- Sai Shiai... Hajime!
- Sakidori Ippon... Hajime!

Timer shall pause whenever Shushin or Kansa announces "Yame"! including "Medic"!

Thus, Jikan is obsolete and no longer in use for IKD Budo Shiai.

Criteria for Ippon

When an effective and powerful tsuki (punch), uchi (strike), or keru (kick) is delivered to a recognized area with todome waza, ippon (1.0 point) shall be awarded.

When a contestant scores waza-ari (0.5 points) during a match, the two waza-ari (0.5+0.5 points) in combination, shall be considered as an ippon (1.0 point). The conditions referred to includes power, speed, sharpness, ki and correct distancing and accuracy.

Note, an effective technique delivered outside the match area shall be considered valid when the attacker has both feet in the ring, and the defender has only one foot outside (jogai penalty).

Techniques delivered under the following conditions shall be considered ippon even if they are somewhat insufficient in power:

- An attack delivered the instant the opponent begins to move toward the attacker.
- An attack delivered within two seconds when the opponent was thrown off balance by the attacker.
- A combination of successive and effective tsuki or keru attacks.
- A combined use of nage (throwing) and tsuki techniques.
- When the opponent loses fighting spirit and turns their back to the attacker (mubobi).
- An attack delivered to a defenceless opponent – physical kyo.
- When the opponent is caught completely off guard – mental kyo.

Techniques delivered under the following conditions shall not be considered ippon even if they were accompanied by sufficient power:

- When a contestant fails to deliver a technique the moment the opponent is seized.
- When a contestant fails to deliver an effective technique within two seconds after the opponent is thrown.

Criteria in the absence of an ippon

In the absence of ippon or defeat due to a foul or disqualification during the prescribed time of a match, a decision shall be made based on the following:

- If a waza-ari has been scored, plus 0.5 points.
- If there has been a hansoku chui due to a foul, minus 0.5 points.
- If there has been a jogai chui due to stepping out of bounds, minus 0.5 points.
- The degree of vigor and fighting spirit, plus 0.2 points.
- Ability and skill, plus 0.2 points.
- Comparative excellence in fighting attitude, plus 0.2 points.
- The number of attacking moves, plus 0.2 points.
- Comparative excellence in the strategy used, plus 0.2 points.

Kumite Competitor Penalties and Disqualifications

There are seven types of disqualification:

- Shikaku – disqualification for behaviour unbecoming a member of IKD Traditional Karate; may lead to expulsion from IKD.
- Shikaku – disqualification for faking an injury.
- Fusensho – default for no show.
- Kiken ni yori – unable to continue. Doctor's directive.
- Mubobi – inability to defend oneself. Lack of regard for one's own safety.
- Jogai hansoku – disqualification for stepping out of the match area three times.
- Hansoku – disqualification for violation of the rules of contact.

The following acts and techniques are prohibited and may result in a warning (hansoku chui) or disqualification (hansoku):

- Attacks to the face or eyes with nukite.
- Attacks to the throat and neck area.
- Attacks to the groin.
- Attacks to the hand and arms, joints, knees, upper and lower legs or feet.
- Blind techniques having no regard if it is a scoring area or not.
- Attacks with head butts.
- Ramming your opponent
- Dangerous forbidden throws higher than the hips.
- Sacrifice throws (grabbing opponent while falling backward to the ground and throwing opponent over your body with one leg on opponent's stomach).
- Grabbing and dumping opponent to the ground.
- Seizing, clinching, pushing or wrestling without attempting a throw or other scoring technique.
- Excessive moving out of the match area. The penalties are:
 - First jogai - jogai keikoku (caution)
 - Second jogai - jogai chui (warning)
 - Third jogai - jogai hansoku (disqualification).
- Moves wasting time may be treated in the same manner as jogai above. For example: stopping to adjust one's gi, excessive avoidance of the opponent, etc.
- Any inappropriate behavior such as abuse, provocation, or needless utterances.
- Faking or exaggerating an injury. Dishonesty is considered a serious offence.
- Overreacting to light contact, to get Shushin to penalize their opponent, by faking an injury when there is none, holding the face, staggering, or falling and rolling on the ground may result in shikaku (disqualification).

Competitors who receive a Shikaku for faking injury in the presence of seven officials – four Fukushin, Shushin, court Kansa, and court Shuseki Shihan of Fuku Shuseki Shihan, will be taken from the match area and be subjected to immediate examination by the tournament doctor. A report will be submitted before the end of the tournament to the IKD Shihan-kai for review. Competitors who fake injury will be subject to serious penalties.

Exaggerating an injury that exists is less serious – A chui (warning) may be applied.

Self-endangerment behaviour may expose the contestant to injury by their opponent. Failing to take adequate measures for self-protection may result in Mubobi (not defending or inability to defend one's self).

Further, turning one's back to the opponent after delivering a technique in a display of dominance intended to draw attention to their technique.

If the contestant receives excessive contact or is injured during such acts Shushin and Fukushin may choose to decline to penalize the opponent.

Techniques that cannot be controlled are dangerous to one's opponent. A warning will be given for uncontrolled attacks. Further uncontrolled attacks will result in disqualification. When a contestant is about to, or has already committed a prohibited act, Shushin shall give a warning or announce a disqualification. When the contestant, after being warned, repeats similar acts or acts infringing upon the rules, Shushin may announce the contestant's defeat, because of the disqualification .

When a contestant or member of a delegation commits an act falling under any of the following cases, Shushin shall announce the defeat of the offending contestant by Shikaku (disqualification), a warning need not be given before. If the members of the panel of Fukushin agree, the contestant or delegation may be referred to the Shihan-kai for review. Penalties may include being barred from the rest of the competition, one-year suspension, or further serious penalties of the contestant, member, or members of the delegation.

When a contestant fails to obey the orders of Shushin.

When a contestant becomes overexcited and is considered by Shushin as a danger to the other contestant.

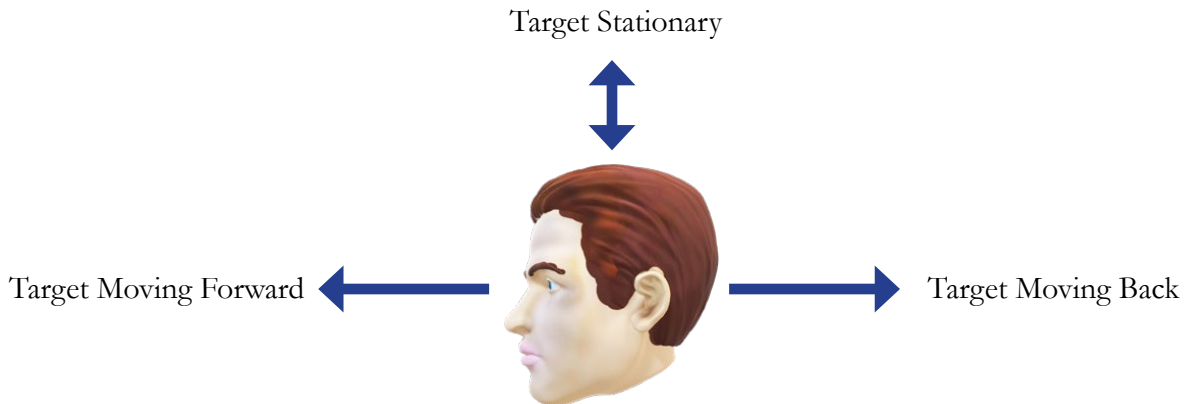

When the act or acts of a contestant are considered as malicious and deliberately violate the rules.

When a coach or fellow team-mate behave in a manner as to harm the prestige and honour of karate-do.

Other acts which are determined to be a violation of the rules and spirit of the tournament.

Categories of Contact and Injury

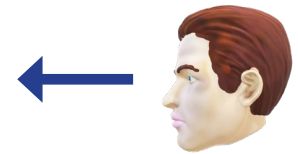

Conditions:

No Penalty

A point may or may not be awarded for non-injurious, light or skin contact to the face, which does not move the head, or any target area backward. If the target is moving forward a point may or may not be awarded.

Informal caution; no penalty.

Hansoku keikoku: (light contact rules violation caution)

If the target is stationary or moving back, no point shall be awarded, and attacker receives hansoku keikoku (light contact rules violation caution).

Hansoku chui: (semi-heavy contact rules violation warning)

A point shall not be awarded for semi-heavy contact to any target area. Contestant shall receive a semi-heavy contact warning of minus 0.5 points. *

Hansoku: (heavy contact rules violation disqualification)

A point shall not be awarded for heavy contact to any target area. Competitor is disqualified.

* A penalty of 0.5 shall be applied for Tournaments after the 2018 IKD World Cup in Barbados.

Example: Aoi and Aka both have waza-ari(s). However, Aoi also has a penalty of Hansoku chui. Thus, Aka wins.

Or, Aoi has waza-ari and hansoku chui, and Aka, no point. Hikiwake decision.

Jogai chui and hansoku chui cannot be combined.

If a competitor accumulates two team kumite hansoku, they cannot compete further in any other team kumite event. For example, if a team member receives a hansoku, and the team goes on to win, the whole team can compete again. However, if the same member receives another hansoku, and the team wins again, that individual cannot participate in any further team kumite matches.

In Case of Injury due to Contact

Shushin shall shout “Medic!” to summon the doctor or first aid/medical personnel to treat injuries.

Fukushin, Shushin, and Kansa

IKD Shihan-kai. Toronto, 2015

Kansa:

Court Arbitrator shall be an eighth dan member of the IKD Shihan-kai Senate. They shall hold jurisdiction over the function and operation of their court and are answerable to the Chief Judge (Shuseki Shihan) or Deputy Chief Judges (Fuku Shuseki Shihan). Kansa shall have a copy of these Rules in the ring for reference.

All judge meeting or conferences shall be held in the presence of Kansa, who may give an opinion, but has no vote.

Kansa shall devote their full attention to the operation of their court, and not to the court recorders. The court recorders shall report directly to the Tournament Director, Shihan Janice Pyke or her deputy. If Kansa observes an infraction of the rules by Shushin, and/or any Fukushin, Kansa shall immediately stop the match by blowing their whistle to summon the judges to a meeting.

Shushin:

If three judges signal a point for Aka, and one judge and Shushin for Aoi, Shushin may:

1. declare the point in favour of Aka, or
2. signal Shushin's two votes by showing both arms in the direction of Aoi. Thus, three votes for Aka, and three votes for Aoi shall result in the cancellation of the point. This signal shall be visible to all in attendance to avoid controversy.

3. If Shushin calls a conference to sway the three Aka votes, Shushin's vote shall be reduced to one vote.
4. Procedure to re-vote after conference. Shushin shall signal by two short, followed by one long blow by whistle.
5. Shushin shall abide by judge's decision, which may or may not change.
6. In the case of two flags for Aka, one did not see, and one flag for Aoi, Shushin, with two votes, plus Aoi shall declare a point for Aoi.
